MESSAGE FROM FATHER BROWN

This first Sunday after Easter has had a developing identity over the years. We once called it “Low Sunday” as a contrast to the “high” atmosphere of the previous Sunday’s Easter celebration. Then there came a time when it was referred to as Good Shepherd Sunday, which had as its theme the protection of Jesus for his followers, His flock. However, the Gospel selection about the two appearances of Jesus to the Apostles behind locked doors had such a great importance and was so fitting for this particular Sunday that it became a fixture on the calendar, and its theme of forgiveness and mercy took precedence. Then during the pontificate of Saint John Paul II, the Polish Pope, much attention was given to the teaching of the Polish nun, now canonized as Saint Faustina Kowalska, who spoke and wrote much about the mercy of God. Observances of Divine Mercy Sunday, usually with special prayers and the opportunity to celebrate the Sacrament of Reconciliation, are provided in many places around the Archdiocese. The schedule can be found in the Record newspaper.

This coming Monday, 8 April is the day on which in 1808, Bardstown was established by the Pope as the headquarters of the Catholic Church in the Midwest of the still newly-formed United States of America. The responsibility of that first Bishop, Benedict Joseph Flaget, covered the areas from the Appalachian Mountains to the Mississippi River, and from the Canadian Border to the Gulf of Mexico. The area today is served by over fifty bishops! In 1841 as the city on the Ohio River grew, Louisville became Bishop Flaget’s residence and remains today the See City of the Archdiocese of Louisville. Of American dioceses, only Baltimore and New Orleans have more seniority. Incidentally, one of those early leaders in New Orleans, Archbishop Perche once served as a priest at Saint Clare here in Hardin County; and, the current Archbishop of Baltimore, the Most Reverend William Lori, grew up across the river from Louisville in New Albany, Indiana. With the appointments to Owensboro, Nashville, and Indianapolis in the last fifteen years, we can point with pride to the contributions made by our Kentuckiana faith community for now more than 216 years.

And, that contribution continues with the Sacrament of Confirmation, which is being celebrated at 7:00 pm on 30 April at Saint Ignatius Church. In his first visit to the southwestern part of Hardin County, Archbishop Shelton Fabre will confer this Sacrament on the following students:

Conner Crutcher
Alex Hadden

Paige Haddle
Chloe Hayes

Conner Miles
Avery Payne

Maggie Stuecker
Trey Stuecker

We congratulate these young people and thank Ms. Rita French, their Catechist.

VOCATIONS

Pope Francis
@Pontifex

The righteous person is honest, simple, and straightforward. They do not wear masks, but present themselves for what they are. "Thank you" is a word they use frequently, knowing that no matter how generous we strive to be, we always remain indebted to our neighbour. #GeneralAudience

Archbishop Shelton Fabre
@ArchbishopFabre

After encountering Jesus outside the empty tomb, Mary Magdalen went and announced to the disciples, "I have seen the Lord," and then she reported what he had told her (Jn 20:18). We are called to be evangelists who share with others the Good News that Christ is risen.
